Why Janus Henderson?

At Janus Henderson, we are investors – that is what we do. But it's how we do it that sets us apart. Our focus on making a real difference for our clients motivates us to deliver better outcomes through differentiated insights, disciplined investments, and world-class service. We are focused on designing Active ETF's that can help our clients achieve their investment goals.

Key benefits of Active ETFs

Active ETFs can offer investors access to a diversified portfolio of investments, convenience and transparency of their investments.

Benefits of Active ETFs can include:

Convenience
Active ETFs are traded on securities exchanges, which means you can buy and sell Active ETF units via your broker, just like you would do if you were buying and selling shares.

Diversification
Active ETFs help diversify an investor's portfolio across markets or asset classes that can be difficult to access.

Transparency
The security holdings of the Active ETF are typically published on the issuer website. This not only means you can review the securities held by your Active ETF, but also it means the market can accurately price the Active ETF throughout the day.

Income
Income received by the Active ETF through the year is fully paid to unitholders. It is generally paid periodically, such as quarterly or semi-annually, either in the form of cash distribution or additional units.

Fair value for investors
Active ETFs are designed to trade at a price that is close to their underlying net asset value (NAV). This means that the price you pay should closely reflect the underlying assets of the fund.
