A consumer (or class of consumer) might intend to hold a particular investment product as part of a diversified portfolio. In these scenarios, the investment product should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the applicable part of the portfolio, instead of against the consumer's portfolio as a whole.

The Global Smaller Companies Fund is for those who are seeking exposure to an actively managed, global smaller companies strategy. "Smaller companies" or "small capitalisation" means companies whose market capitalisation, at the time of initial purchase, are within the range of market capitalisations of companies included in the MSCI World Small Cap Index.
