Costs and returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency and exchange rate fluctuations. Investment into the fund will acquire units/shares of the fund itself and not the underlying assets owned by the fund. Cash balances and exposures are based on settled and unsettled trades as at the reporting date.

Investment policy

The Fund will seek to achieve its investment objective primarily through Index CDS trading activity in order to track, as closely as possible, the performance of the Index. The Fund aims to invest as far as possible in the fixed income exposures (such as through bonds and derivatives on CDS indices) that make up the Index. The Fund's ultimate exposure will be to the 5 and 10 Year On-the-Run European and U.S. investment grade CDS credit curves. The Fund will also seek to replicate the cash component return of the Index by investing its cash holdings in cash deposits, cash held with a custodian, short term debt securities, bonds that may be fixed or floating rate, certificates of deposit, bankers acceptances and money market instruments (such as short-term government bonds).

Investment strategy

The Index is calculated using the value of a hypothetical portfolio composed of exactly 50% iTraxx Europe (ITRX EUR) and 50% CDX IG (CDX NA IG) through long CDS positions on the 5 Year On-the-Run Index and short CDS positions on the 10 Years On-the-Run CDS index with the remaining cash component receiving interest at the EONIA rate minus a spread (subject to change). The Index is rebalanced monthly to maintain an approximate 3:1 market exposure to the short On-the-Run 10 Year Index CDS position where the weight of the long On-the-Run 5 Year Index CDS position is determined to offset the credit sensitivity of the 10 Year position. The Index rebalances the CDS based on a ratio of notional times CDS bond equivalent price to Index value, so the notional to Net Asset Value ratio may differ from 3:1. The CDS index positions held are rolled to the latest issued series when the new series becomes available semi-annually.

Fund specific risks

An issuer of a bond (or money market instrument) may become unable or unwilling to pay interest or repay capital. If this happens or the market perceives this may happen, the value of the bond will fall. The performance of the Sub-Fund is not expected to precisely match the performance of the index at all times and the deduction of fees and expenses means the Sub-Fund might deliver a lower total return than the index. Derivatives may be used to help achieve the investment objective. This can result in leverage (higher levels of debt), which can magnify an investment outcome. Gains or losses may therefore be greater than the cost of the derivative. Derivatives also introduce other risks, in particular, that a derivative counterparty may not meet its contractual obligations. Securities could become hard to value or to sell at a desired time and price, especially in extreme market conditions when asset prices may be falling, increasing the risk of investment losses. Losses could be incurred if a counterparty became unwilling or unable to meet its obligations, or as a result of failure or delay in operational processes or the failure of a third party provider. The Sub-Fund is primarily exposed to long and short credit risk. Returns will increase if there is a default, or higher perceived risk of default, among the entities referenced by the CDS indices, or a write-down ("bail in") of an entity's debt by financial authorities. The Sub-Fund may also be impacted by other factors affecting the value of debt securities issued by those entities, including changes in interest rates and exchange rates. When buying and selling CDS on subordinate debt, such debt may be subordinate to senior debt. If the Sub-Fund holds assets in currencies other than the base currency of the Sub-Fund, and does not seek to hedge those assets (i.e. does not seek to mitigate exchange rate movements between the currencies), the value of your investment may be impacted by changes in exchange rates.
