INTERIM MANAGEMENT REPORT

Chairman's Statement

Performance

Over the six months to 31 December 2013 the NAV per share total return was 24.8% compared to a total return of 18.9% from our benchmark, the HSBC Smaller Europe (ex UK) Index (in sterling terms). Our share price total return was 34.9% as our discount narrowed to 10.2% over the period.

Gearing

During the period gearing averaged 10.7% (calculated as total assets before prior charges as a percentage of net assets) to benefit from the improved market sentiment. Gearing finished the period at 11.9% (as at 31 December 2013).

Share buy-backs

We have not carried out any buy backs over the last six months. We will intervene if we believe it is in the interests of our long term shareholders. However, the key to the reduction of the discount to net asset value is good performance and an improving sentiment towards European equities.

Prospects

We are confident that European equities should make further progress in 2014, supported by the abundant liquidity provided by central banks. Valuation multiples do look quite stretched though the European smaller companies' space is still down from the highs of 2007. We should also benefit disproportionately from the shoots of recovery we are starting to witness across Europe. Our Manager continues to find a number of attractive opportunities and I look forward to reporting on our progress in our annual report.

Audley Twiston-Davies Chairman 26 February 2014

Manager's Report

The Company performed well in the six months to the end of December 2013 with strong net asset value appreciation and a further narrowing of the discount. Leading economic indicators continued to point in a positive direction and asset allocators increased their weighting to equities, especially smaller companies. Despite this the European Central Bank ("ECB") chose to cut interest rates to 0.25%. Employment and inflation has remained stubbornly low and we find it encouraging that the ECB has shown good intent in aiming to prevent a deflationary scenario becoming established. Towards the end of the review period the US Federal Reserve ("Fed") decided to start 'tapering' (reducing) the amount of its open market bond purchases. At the end of 2013, investors took this decision as good news, choosing to focus on the Fed's flexible rhetoric and the strength of the global economy rather than the withdrawal of liquidity. At the time of writing, however, the same tapering has led to volatility across global equity markets, particularly in those emerging markets that have become dependent on foreign capital.

The largest contributors to the Company's performance over the review period were from stock picking rather than from following any 'macro' theme. Gowex, the provider of wireless (Wi-Fi) networks for municipalities, was a particularly strong contributor; it is gaining increasing investor attention from moving into new cities. The business model is not entirely proven, but the potential is immense. A relatively recent purchase, Comet Holding, the provider of systems, components and services in x-ray, e-beam, and radio frequency technologies, was very strong. Investors have become increasingly aware of its Tetra-Pak contract to provide e-beam sterilisation technology. Another technology company, Manz, was very strong primarily from becoming an increasingly important supplier in the smartphone space. Yoox, the online luxury retailer that we have held since its initial public offering in 2008, continued to see its share price advance. The company now trades at very high multiples. However, it has a unique business model and considerable growth prospects as the white label e-tailor for a number of high-end luxury brands.

During the period we completed some of the last steps in restructuring the portfolio. We sold our position in Ukrainian egg producer Avangardco. The Company will continue to focus on developed markets in Europe going forward. We sold our holding in Cafom, which provides furniture to the French territories. We also disposed of our position in Aixtron, the provider of machinery for manufacturing light emitting diodes (LEDs). At some point demand should return, but for the time being it is our belief that the market remains saturated.

New additions to the portfolio included AMS AG and CA Immobilien Anlagen AG. The former provides chips, including those for near field communication and sensors for gesture recognition within the smartphone/tablet ecosystem. The latter manages and develops real estate predominantly in Germany and Eastern Europe; despite concerns about some of its markets the company trades at a substantial discount to the net asset value of the portfolio, which we believe to be unwarranted.

In 2014, as confidence returns to the market, we expect to see a pick-up in mergers and acquisitions. These have historically disproportionately benefited the European smaller companies' space. We believe the acquirers will come from other corporate areas – the Chinese trying to move up the value chain and the private equity sector, which has significant cash to invest.

In 2014 we hope improvements to the economic backdrop lead to an increase in capital investment. Despite generally strong balance sheets most corporates have been doing little more than the bare minimum of investing, which is required for a more sustainable economic recovery. There are glimmers of hope that investment will occur and, if so, many companies in our space could benefit. One positive in the Continental European smaller company space is that there are a number of family owned companies that take a longer-term view of developing the business and have strategically invested over the course of the downturn. The portfolio contains several such family companies including Trevi (foundations and oil equipment), Manz, Krones, (packaging machinery) and De Longhi (kitchen appliances).

We remain confident that positive returns can be achieved by European smaller companies in 2014. While Europe may only be returning to modest growth with many hurdles to overcome (such as a strong euro, Fed tapering, and European parliamentary elections) we ultimately feel that conditions are improving rather than becoming worse, and on a relative basis valuations are still supportive. After a period of strong share prices we do need to see a return to corporate earnings growth; we do expect this to occur. We will continue our search for what we believe to be undervalued companies and are hopeful of a good year ahead.

Notes (continued)

8. Management and performance fee

A base ad valorem fee is payable to the Manager of 0.5% per annum, which is calculated as 0.125% of income-inclusive total net assets at each quarter end. Management fees are allocated 20% to revenue and 80% to capital.

The Manager may also be eligible to receive a performance related fee. In order to determine whether a performance fee will be paid, performance is measured against, and expressed relative to, the benchmark. Performance of both the Company and the benchmark is measured on a NAV total return (with gross income reinvested) basis and is measured over three years.

In any given year in which a performance fee is payable, the performance fee rate will be 15% of the positive difference between the average annual NAV total return and the average annual total return of the benchmark. The upper limit on the total fee, including the base fee and any performance fee, for any given accounting year will be 2.4% of the income-inclusive NAV of the Company as at the last day of the relevant calculation period. For clarity, performance will be measured solely on the basis of NAV total return relative to the total return of the benchmark index; no account will be taken of whether the NAV grows or shrinks in absolute terms. Any performance fee payable is allocated to capital.

A performance fee of £895,000 is being accrued as at 31 December 2013.

9. Going concern

The Directors believe that it is appropriate to adopt the going concern basis in preparing the financial statements. The assets of the Group consist mainly of securities, most of which are readily realisable and, accordingly, the Group has adequate financial resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future.

10. Related party transactions

Details of related parties are contained in the annual report. Other than the relationship between the Company, its subsidiary and its Directors, the provision of services by Henderson is the only related party arrangement currently in place. Other than fees payable by the Company in the ordinary course of business, there have been no material transactions with this related party affecting the financial position or performance of the Group during the six months to 31 December 2013.

The financial information contained in this half year report does not constitute statutory accounts as defined in section 434 of the Companies Act 2006.
